this book has been written to fill a substantial gap in the current literature in mathematical education throughout the world school mathematical curricula have incorporated probability and statistics as new topics there have been many research papers written on specific aspects of teaching presenting novel and unusual approaches to introducing ideas in the classroom however there has been no book giving an overview here we have decided to focus on probability making reference to inferential statistics where appropriate we have deliberately avoided descriptive statistics as it is a separate area and would have made ideas less coherent and the book excessively long a general lead has been taken from the first book in this series written by the man who probably more than everyone else has established mathematical education as an academic discipline however in his exposition of didactical phenomenology freudenthal does not analyze probability thus in this book we show how probability is able to organize the world of chance and idealized chance phenomena based on its development and applications in preparing these chapters we and our co authors have reflected on our own acquisition of probabilistic ideas analyzed textbooks and observed and reflected upon the learning processes involved when children and adults struggle to acquire the relevant concepts both new and seasoned psychotherapists wrestle with the relationship between psychological distress and inequality across race class gender and sexuality how does one address this organically in psychotherapy what role does it play in therapeutic action who brings it up the therapist or the patient daniel josé gaztambide addresses these questions by offering a rigorous decolonial approach that rethinks theory and technique from the ground up providing an accessible evidence informed reintroduction to psychoanalytic practice he re examines foundational thinkers from three traditions freudian relational interpersonal and lacanian through the lens of revolutionary psychiatrist frantz fanon and offers a detailed analysis of fanon's psychoanalytic practice drawing on rich yet grounded discussions of theory and research gaztambide presents a clinical model that facilitates exploration of the social in the clinical space in a manner intimately related to the patient's presenting problem in doing so this book demonstrates that clinicians no longer have to choose between attending to the personal interpersonal or sociopolitical it is a guide to therapeutic action on the couch which envisions political action off the couch and in the streets decolonizing psychoanalytic technique provides a comprehensive practice oriented and compelling guide for students practitioners and scholars of critical multicultural and decolonial approaches to psychotherapy the handbook of youth mentoring provides the first scholarly and comprehensive synthesis of current theory research and practice in the field of youth mentoring editors david l dubois and michael j karcher along with leading experts in the field offer critical and informative analyses of the full spectrum of topics that are essential to advancing our understanding of the principles for effective mentoring of young people the handbook explores not only mentoring that occurs within formal programs such as big brothers big sisters but also examines natural mentoring relationships that youth establish with adults outside of such programs the first major study on the works of the mexican novelist angeles mastretta demonstrating the rich complexity and range of the author's fiction and essays the mexican novelist angeles mastretta b 1949 has only recently received serious critical attention largely because her work has been seen as popular and therefore inappropriate for academic study this first major work to be published on mastretta seeks to demonstrate the rich complexity and range of the author's fiction and essays in the tradition of post boom latin american women's writing mastretta's texts are motivated by a desire to speak primarily of the silenced experiences and voices of women two of her novels referential and testimonial in style can be placed within the mexican revolutionary novel tradition and explore the revolutionary period and its consequences in the light of female experiences and perspectives the hitherto unexplored themes of female sexuality and bodily erotics in mastretta s texts are also considered in this volume her feminist works avoid facile simplifications heterogeneous and dialogical they interweave the historical and the fictional the everyday and the fantastic the originality of mastretta s writing lies in its elusive postmodern ambiguities shimmering surfacesare often interrupted by unexpected depths and proliferating meanings cannot be fully circumscribed by critical analysis jane elizabeth lavery lectures in latin american studies at the university of kent
